

2010 Squid Fees

The 2010 squid fee will be $275 per squid user day (unchanged from 2009). For example, if a lab plans to obtain squid twice a week for 8 weeks in 2010, that would equal 16 squid user days, for a total of $4,400. For any given squid day, that lab can have as many squid as it needs, conditional on the total number of squid available and the needs of other users on that day.

Please notify the Marine Resources office of your proposed 2010 squid needs (total squid user days, and specific calendar days you plan to use squid) as soon as possible and no later than March 1, 2010. Please also let them know your flexibility on the specific days of the week that you will need squid so that they can plan their collection days accordingly.